Remembrance Day

11 NOVEMBER

In Flanders Fields

poem by Lieutenant Colonel John McCrae, 3 May 1915

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie,
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe:
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high;
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

lest we forget

Please Note - CLOSURE OF THE ADMINISTRATION OFFICE OVER CHRISTMAS

The closure of the Shire Office over the Christmas New Year break with effect from Monday December 21st 2009 to Monday January 4th 2010 (inclusive).

Whilst a skeleton crew will be on hand for emergencies, the Chief Executive Officer and the Works Manager both have mobile phones in case of need and where members of the public are encouraged to call if essential.

Matters arising from the Ordinary Meeting of Council held Thursday October 22nd 2009

1. GOVERNMENT FOR MENZIES STRUCTURE

It is pleasing to report to the Community that Cr Dwyer (J.), Cr Tucker, and Cr Kelly were re-elected to Council for a further term of four years and an encouraging new nomination in Cr. Maria Bandry brings a wonderful spread of skills backgrounds, experiences and abilities to the table of Government, where we look forward with enthusiasm to this term ahead of us for the betterment of Menzies.

Furthermore, the election of Cr Dwyer (G.) as the President of the Shire will similarly bring a new perspective and direction for Council and this makes for an exciting time for all concerned.

Congratulations to all Councillors re-elected to the office of Councillor an especially Cr Bandry as a new Councillor with Cr (G) Dwyer as the new President for the next two years with Cr Stubbs as his Deputy also for a term of two years.

2. SUPPORT FOR TJUNTJUNTJARA

President Dwyer attended the Tjuntjuntjara Community earlier in October with the Community Development Officer and reported to Council a smattering of the issues requiring attention at that site and where the heart of Council is in support of the Community and further advices will emerge as strategic plans are set in place.

3. COMMITTEE STRUCTURE

A very formal part of the Council meeting was the determination of which Councillors will participate in which particular committees of Council and a very encouraging participation was noted. Accordingly there is a very clear delineation and resolution as to which elected members will attend which committees and meetings and the support for attendance was most encouraging.

4. PURCHASE OF SALES OF LAND IN MENZIES

The demand for land in Menzies continues and a number of applications were received and addressed at this October meeting and where this is most encouraging and displays a positive and purposed confidence in the town and the future.

5. RE-ALIGNMENT OF THE BROWN STREET INTERSECTION

This aspect is quite a concern and constitutes a considerable restructure of the existing intersection where the Community will be given adequate opportunity to comment in the early future and is required to correct a range of anomalies at this location and where Council is working through these issues with the Department for Planning and Infrastructure and Councils Surveyor.

6. EMERGENCY TRAILER AND EQUIPMENT

Council has sought a further report on this issue to be presented to the November meeting as it seems the absence of some essential life saving equipment was required recently where a death of a driver occurred. Accordingly Council is keen to see the existing trailer suitably equipped with adequate and appropriate equipment for the services it requires to carry out the task of "Emergency Services".

7. SKATE RAMP FOR MENZIES

Council supported the provision of a Skate Ramp for town, subject to a design being presented and a suitable location being found together with appropriate Grant funding being approved. Accordingly, this is an exciting opportunity for Menzies and should enhance the quality of life for the Community well into the future.

8. CHRISTMAS PARTY FOR THE COMMUNITY

A wonderful gesture by the Council was approved in the provision of a Christmas party to be held in the Town Hall on Friday December 18th, 2009 which is hopeful intended to coincide with the early conclusion of the December Council meeting and the conduct of the "Annual Meeting of Electors" with the function to commence at 5 pm in the town hall.

9. CLOSURE OF THE ADMINISTRATION OFFICE OVER CHRISTMAS

Furthermore, Council agreed to the closure of the office over the Christmas New Year break with effect from Monday December 21st 2009 to Monday January 4th 2010 (inclusive).

Whilst a skeleton crew will be on hand for emergencies, the Chief Executive Officer and the Works Manager both have mobile phones in case of need and where members of the public are encouraged to call if essential.

The closure for this festive season is not intended or anticipated to cause any discomfort and enables staff who have a distance to travel to visit family at this celebratory time adequate time to do so and where the staff join in a united voice of thanks for this provision. The Post Office will remain open during this time for the minimum number of hours except for the statutory Public Holidays, as normal.

10. TOWN SQUARE CONCEPT

Council supported the concept of the Town Square Concept in its initial design stage and subject to costing and design work with Grant funding to be applied for. Accordingly, we have some fascinating tasks ahead of us and this concept will be a huge lift for the town.

11. ULARRING ROCK TOURIST FACILITY

This wonderful location also received support from Council in the provision of $30,000 to assist in the restoration of the site and to ensure its continued maintenance under the guise and auspice of the officers of the Department of Environment and Conservation in Kalgoorlie. Therefore it is expected that very shortly the facilities on-site will be functional and effective.

12. CURBING PROGRAMME

Council supported the first year programme of curbing of a block of the town streets with non-drive-over curbing, back filling the verge so as to provide uniformity and produce a tidy effect and this is planned to commence this year, very shortly along Brown St, Onslow St, Wilson Street and Walsh Street.

We therefore watch with interest as this plan comes into fruition and where it is intended to continue with this stages approach, for the next four years.

Remembrance Day-11 November

History

At 5am on 11 November 1918, three German government representatives accepted the Armistice terms presented to them by an allied commander, General Foch of the French Army. The demands of the Armistice included the withdrawal of German forces to the east bank of the Rhine within 30 days; immediate cessation of warfare; and surrender of the German fleet and all heavy guns with no further negotiations until the signing of the peace treaty.

The armistice became effective at 11am the same day, and as the guns fell silent on the Western Front in France and Belgium, four years of hostilities ended.

The cease-fire was made permanent the following year when members of the Commonwealth and the League of Nations signed the Treaty of Versailles. People across the world celebrated the war's end - celebrations tempered by thoughts of the enormous suffering and loss of life resulting from the War.

World War I began in 1914 and lasted for four years. More than 416 000 Australians volunteered for service in World War I. Of these, 324 000 served overseas. More than 60 000 Australians were killed, including 45 000 who died on the Western Front in France and Belgium and more than 8 000 who died on the Gallipoli Peninsula in Turkey. As well as Australian soldiers, many nurses in the Australian Army Nursing Service served on the Western Front. These nurses worked in overcrowded hospitals for up to 16 hours a day, looking after soldiers with shocking injuries and burns. Those who worked in hospitals close to the fighting were also in danger of being shelled by the enemy.

In Australia and other allied countries, including New Zealand, Canada and the United States, 11 November became known as Armistice Day - a day to remember those who died in World War I. The day continues to be commemorated in Allied countries.

After World War II the Australian Government agreed to the United Kingdom's proposal that Armistice Day be renamed Remembrance Day to commemorate those who were killed in both World Wars. Today the loss of Australian lives from all wars and conflicts is commemorated on Remembrance Day.

In October 1997 the then Governor-General issued a Proclamation declaring 11 November as Remembrance Day - a day to remember the sacrifice of those who have died for Australia in wars and conflicts.

The Proclamation reinforced the importance of Remembrance Day and encouraged all Australians to renew their observance of the event.

Observation of silence at 11 am

As a mark of respect to those who have died and suffered, people in Australia are encouraged to stop what they are doing at 11 am to observe one minute's silence and reflect on the loss and suffering caused by war.

The idea of observing a period of silence was first proposed by Melbourne journalist Edward George Honey, who proposed a period of silence for national remembrance in a letter published in the London Evening News on 8 May 1919.

The suggestion came to the attention of King George V. After testing the practicality of five minutes' silence – a trial was held with five Grenadier Guardsmen standing to attention for the silence – the King issued a proclamation on 7 November 1919 which called for a two-minute silence. His proclamation requested that "all locomotion should cease, so that, in perfect stillness, the thoughts of everyone may be concentrated on reverent remembrance of the glorious dead".

At 11 am on 11 November 1919, Australians, for the first time, paused and stood in silent tribute to the men and women of the 1st Australian Imperial Force who had died on battlefields in Gallipoli, Europe and in the Middle East.

In 1997, the Governor-General issued a proclamation urging all Australians to observe the one minute silence on Remembrance Day. It is also still appropriate for two minutes' silence to be observed.

Significance of Rosemary

Traditionally, sprigs of rosemary are worn on Anzac Day and sometimes on Remembrance Day. Rosemary is a herb which is usually added to cooking. However, since ancient times, the herb has been believed to have properties to improve the memory. Perhaps for this reason, rosemary became an emblem of remembrance in ancient folklore. Rosemary is now worn as a symbol of remembrance and has particular significance for Australians as it is found growing wild on the Gallipoli peninsula.

Significance of poppies

Red poppies are often worn on Remembrance Day. The tradition has its origins in a poem written in 1915 by Lieutenant Colonel John McCrae, a doctor in the Royal Canadian Medical Corps. Lieutenant Colonel McCrae noticed that, despite the devastation caused by the war to towns, farms and forests, thousands of small red poppies began growing everywhere in Spring.

This inspired his poem, In Flanders Fields:

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.
We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.
Take up our quarrel with the foe;
To you, from failing hands, we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

The poem was first published in England's Punch magazine in December 1915 and within months came to symbolize the sacrifices of all who were fighting in World War 1.

In 1918 Moira Michael, an American, wrote a poem in reply, We Shall Keep the Faith, in which she promised to wear a poppy 'in honour of our dead' and so began the tradition of wearing a poppy in remembrance.

It was French YMCA Secretary, Madame Guerin, who in 1918 conceived the idea of selling silk poppies to help needy soldiers.

Poppies were first sold in England on Armistice Day in 1921 by members of the British Legion to raise money for those who had been incapacitated by the war.

The practice began in Australia the same year, promoted by the Returned Sailors' and Soldiers' Imperial League of Australia (now known as the Returned & Services League of Australia, or RSL).

In the lead-up to 11 November each year, the RSL sells red poppies for Australians to pin on their lapels, with proceeds helping the organisation undertake welfare work.

Since 1921 wearing a poppy has enabled Australians to show they have not forgotten the more than 102,000 Australian servicemen and women who have given their lives in wars and conflicts during the past 100 years.

The Unknown Australian Soldier

Twentieth century warfare resulted in millions of unknown dead resting in unknown graves. Of Australia's war dead from World War I and World War II, 35 527 (about 35 per cent) have no identified grave. They are commemorated on Memorials to the Missing.

The names of many Australians who died in World War I appear on memorials along the Western Front, including the names of about 18 000 men of the Australian Imperial Force with 'no known grave'.

In 1993, to mark the 75th anniversary of the 1918 armistice, the Australian Government exhumed the remains of an unknown Australian soldier from the Adelaide War Cemetery, near Villers-Bretonneux, France for entombment in the Australian War Memorial's Hall of Memory, Canberra.

The funeral for the Unknown Soldier was held on 11 November – Remembrance Day – 1993. Before proceeding to the Hall of Memory, the Unknown Soldier's coffin was placed on the Stone of Remembrance outside the Memorial where the then Prime Minister, the Hon Paul Keating, delivered the eulogy:

... We will never know who this Australian was. Yet he has always been among those we have honoured. We know that he was one of the 45,000 Australians who died on the Western Front, one of the 416,000 Australians who volunteered for service in World War I ... and one of the 100,000 Australians who have died in wars this century. He is all of them. And he is one of us ...

As Australia's Unknown Soldier was laid to rest in the Hall of Memory, the late Robert Comb, a World War I veteran, who had served in battles on the Western Front, sprinkled soil from Pozieres, France, over the coffin and said, "Now you're home, mate".

Menzies Tidy Town Awards

Menzies the tidiest of them all

ADAM KOLBERG

adam.kolberg@wanarn.com.au

MENZIES was declared the overall winner in the Goldfields for the 2009 Tidy Towns Sustainable Communities Award at a ceremony in Laverton on Monday night.

Menzies Shire chief executive Brian Seale said he was delighted with the win and "very proud" of residents' efforts in the past year.

Contributing to Menzies' overall success in the competition were the installation of a BioMax system in the caravan park to save water, introducing water-saving irrigation methods for public gardens and protecting the natural environment at Lake Ballard while making it accessible to visitors.

Mr Seale said the shire council had spent more than $200,000 on the water recycling scheme and had fought hard to find the balance with Lake Ballard, making it accessible to the public without letting access requirements impinge on the landscape.

Keep Australia Beautiful WA Tidy Towns program manager Gail Dodd said judges were particularly impressed with the community events and improvements to sporting facilities in Menzies that had boosted community morale and identity.

"We were really impressed overall with the entries in the Goldfields region and I congratulate Menzies, Wanarn, and all entrants and wish them all the best in their ongoing efforts to build vibrant and sustainable communities," Ms Dodd said.

"Tidy Towns Sustainable Communities is about much more than keeping towns clean and tidy.

"The awards reward and recognise towns for their achievements towards sustainability including preserving their culture, protecting their environment and the amenity of their towns."

Wanarn, a small community of about 200 in the Shire of Nganyatjaraku, was the other big winner on the night, taking out three awards and some prize money.

Ms Dodd said Wanarn had initially entered only two categories, but ended up winning three for a variety of community-led projects.

One of these was restarting a farm that had lain dormant for five years so it could supply fresh vegetables and eggs to the Wanarn store and another was the re-landscaping of a park for community use.

Aileen Kelly, the Menzies council representative on the Tidy Towns committee, who attended the awards night in Laverton, will now head off to represent her town when it competes with other regional winners for the overall West Australian Tidy Towns Sustainable Communities title, to be announced at an awards ceremony on November 20 at the Royal Perth Yacht Club.

THE WINNERS

GOLDFIELDS winners at the Tidy Towns Sustainable Communities Award are:

- Community Action: Wanarn
- General Appearance: Wanarn

MENZIES SENIOR FIRST AID TRAINING

On the weekend of the 31st October & 1st November nine of us attempted to get our Senior First Aid Certificate for various reasons. Some for their jobs with the Menzies Shire, some for Menzies St John Ambulance and Menzies Fire and Rescue. After two days of training this happy group (all volunteers), were pleased to pass this hands on training with everyone happy in the knowledge that we have learnt a lot more.

Our instructor/teacher (Evan), gave us a lot of his knowledge on snake bites, car accidents, broken bones and resuscitation etc. At one stage we even had a mock accident in the middle of the street to give us a chance to help injured people “without” the use of our two ambulances. Carol McAllan helped out by being the victim in the vehicle that caught on fire and we got her out with a minimum of fuss. Young Nathan Seale turned up on Sunday and acted as an accident victim along with Katie Lenane. The two victims placed themselves on the stage in the hall, under the old Fire Cart. I must say they made it look very real, along with the special effects that Evan had brought along, (almost too real). Top Job guys! Evan was very pleased with the condition of the Menzies ambulance and showed us a few things that it can do, “good brakes too”. The food supplied for lunch on both days was fantastic, thanks to the Menzies Hotel and the Menzies Shire.

Spinifex Art Stories - Profile of Artists

Frank Davies & Annette Hogan

Artist : Frank Davies

Frank Davies & Annette Hogan

"Kumparapa Piti"

August 2009

Frank Davies is a senior initiated man who in this painting shows Kuparapa Piti, his country.

Frank's country is actually so sacred it can only be spoken of the most general terms.

His birthplace area is in the northern part of Spinifex country, WA.

Frank has been painting with the Spinifex Arts Project since it began in 1997. His paintings have been sold all around Australia and also overseas.

This painting has been assisted by his wife Annette Hogan.

Artist: Annette Hogan

"Apubulu"

August 2009

Annette was born in the early sixties in the Great Victoria Desert at a site called Apubulu. In this painting Annette paints her country, a place where she grew up for a short while, living a fully traditional hunter gatherer life-style before moving to Cundeelee Mission due to the British Nuclear testing at Maralinga.

Annette shows the many other rockholes in her area, places which were crucial for survival in the bush, and also places which her extended family and all of the Spinifex people have an intimate knowledge of.

The Spinifex People have recently graded new roads within their Native Title Claim area, into areas which have not been visited for many years. This opening up of areas both sacred and public gives younger family members the opportunity to visit sites where families used to reside.

Wildlife about Menzies

Janet Mazza has sent some info on a recent find of the 'small furry kind' in her back yard. Janet has emailed Dr Ric How the Senior Curator for the Department of Terrestrial Zoology at Western Australian Museum and his is what he had to say.

"It is a Hopping Mouse of the genus Notomys - from what I can decipher from the photo. Not a Spinifex Hopping Mouse but more likely a Mitchell's Hopping Mouse. These are quite similar, only larger and have a generally tanner upper body and paler underbody. They are very hard to tell apart and at Goongarrie both species of Notomys are present. Those big dunes to the south of Menzies by about 20 km have Mitchells, while the sand plain country to the east have Spinifex. Would still be keen to have a look at the real specimen if you are able to bring it to Perth, but that may be awkward."

Janet then sent off the specimen to Dr How and the email reply followed:-

"Thanks for the specimen that arrived Wednesday – very well parceled!! It is a Notomys mitchelli – or Mitchell's Hopping Mouse and quite a bit different from the normal Spinifex Hopping Mouse. It is good to have as a specimen and am impressed that you found it in the middle of your yard. Anyhow it will be immortalised in the Museum and thanks for your interest." Dr Ric How

Some more information from Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia.

Mitchell's Hopping Mouse, Notomys mitchellii, is the largest member of the genus Notomys, weighing between 40 and 60 g (1.4 and 2.1 oz). N. mitchellii is a bipedal rodent with large back legs, similar to a jerboa or kangaroo rat. The species occurs throughout much of semi-arid Southern Australia, and appears to be particularly common on the Eyre Peninsula, South Australia. Typical habitat for N. mitchellii appears to be mallee shrublands on sandy dune systems. The species is currently considered to be unthreatened, but its range has been reduced through habitat disturbance and destruction associated with European settlement in Australia.

Individuals are a sandy grey colour, with white chest hairs and a paler underbelly. The tail of the species is long and has the characteristic hopping mouse brush at the tip. This tail morphology is thought to aid balance when travelling at speed. Being nocturnal, Notomys mitchellii shelters during the day in 'typical' hopping mouse burrows; a small number of interconnected, vertical shafts, burrowing deep into the dune. Up to eight animals, different ages and sex, have been found in a single burrow.

N. mitchellii is known to have a lifespan of up to five years in the laboratory and this is thought to be a strategy evolved to combat the breeding-constraints of lengthy periods of drought. It has also been found that this species is less able to cope with water deprivation than other species of the genus. Notomys mitchellii produces concentrated urine to conserve water, but in a different way to more arid-dwelling rodents. The diet of N. mitchellii is also thought to consist of more roots and green matter than that of other species of the genus: animals captured in drought conditions had stomach contents consisting of some 85% roots, 11% green leaf and 4% seed.

PRICKLY PEST - THE HUDSON PEAR

The Hudson Pear has come to "our" outback, a very dangerous and prickly cactus. Originally from Arizona and Mexico, Dr John Hosking says it was probably introduced to the Opal Fields to protect their diggings from thieves, etc. The Hudson Pear can grow to 1.5m high and 3m wide, has pink flowers about 5cm wide and yellow spiny fruit with white spines up to 3.5cm long that cover the whole plant. The spines from this vicious pest can (and do) penetrate tyres and work boots, as our keen and willing group of volunteers found out. This cactus doesn't have seeds, but grows from any segment that contacts the ground. It has an enormous shallow root system and even when dry the segments can still grow. The segments stick to anything including animals which transport them to new areas or even when drying in the sun, the wind will blow the segments to new areas. If you see this cactus, report it to your Shire and please try to avoid it. Ken Atkinson

A Message from Goongarrie

For the last ten years, my husband & I have spent the winter months in the goldfields of WA. Usually we camp out in the bush at various places. This year, though, we have spent around five months in the Shire of Menzies at Goongarrie. Living in the railway cottage, by the Goldfields Hwy, has been a most enjoyable experience. With all the rain, early on, we were pleased not to be out in the bush, but cosily ensconced by the roaring fire at the cottage. After all that good rain we were amazed at the wonderful display of wildflowers as the bush transformed from the usual various shades of green to a blaze of colour. It truly was a sight to see and provided the opportunity for many photos to be taken.

We had a bit of entertainment when the Variety Club Bash Cars passed through on their way to Perth, after an overnight stop at Menzies. We had a birds eye view of all the vehicles as they came up our driveway to go on to the highway! Most participants were friendly enough to wave or stop for a photo.

Watching the passing traffic, we saw many & varied vehicles, from the normal to the most unusual. Friendly drivers of cars & semis would give us a wave or a toot as they sailed by. On more than one occasion, we were able to help motorists who were experiencing problems with their vehicles.

Prospecting is our hobby, so we just loved being out & about in the bush. The wide open spaces and the spectacular scenery, (especially Lake Goongarrie) the wonderful sunsets as well as the people we met, all contributed to a great stay.

Everyone at the council, the information centre and the roadhouse were very friendly & helpful to us and we would like to thank you all for making our stay at Goongarrie a most memorable time.

Ninghan

Yalgoo, Western Australia

When we came to Ninghan, the land was degraded. My uncle used to say that we were put here to look after the land and everything on it. I think it's good that I learn about the IPA now so that when it is my calling to run the station I will have the knowledge to carry on the responsibilities.

Drew Bell, Traditional Owner

Rising 678 metres from the surrounding plains, the gently sloping form of Mount Singleton—nyingarn, or echidna—lends its character and traditional name to Ninghan Indigenous Protected Area (IPA).

Positioned at the junction of four bioregions, the property marks the transition from remnant eucalyptus woodlands to expansive mulga plains. The rolling Ninghan Ridge landscape embraces a system of smaller hills, with the verdant green ribbons of natural drainage courses leading to creamy yellow sandplains, and salt lake margins bounded with shrublands.

Ninghan IPA covers an area of around 480 square kilometres within a larger pastoral station which sits on the Great Northern Highway, 350 kilometres from Perth. The former Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Commission (ATSIC) purchased the property's lease for the Pindiddy Aboriginal Corporation in 1993. The original lease dates from the 1870s, making it one of the region's earliest pastoral enterprises. A small stone shepherd's cottage and circular stone wells near Ninghan homestead are all that is left to show the Benedictine monks at New Norcia spent time on the land.

The Ninghan area served as a traditional meeting place for the Badimaya, Nyoongar, Yamatji and Wongai peoples, with the locals trading balga gum for spearheads and ochre from outlying country. One of the IPA's significant cultural sites, Warrdagga Rock, is a huge granite dome featuring rock pools with semi-permanent water, and plants that flourish in the Rock's run-off.

Indigenous Protected Areas

Three generations of the local Bell family are now caring for Ninghan and using their traditional knowledge to manage the land. They have reduced the level of sheep numbers on the property from 18,000 in 1993 to around 2,300 a decade later, and the environmental benefits of reducing pressure on the land are now being seen in landscape regeneration and erosion reduction.

One of the highest levels of biodiversity in Western Australia has been recorded on the property, with over 730 plant species and subspecies identified so far. Two species are currently listed under the Environment Protection and Biodiversity Conservation Act 1999—silver mallee as vulnerable and Acacia unguicula as critically endangered. IPA funding is helping Traditional Owners to compile a list of Aboriginal and English plant names and their uses, to help others understand the natural and cultural significance of the Ninghan flora.

One of the main IPA objectives is to maintain the existing high level of biodiversity by fixing environmental damage caused by feral goats, and preventing the spread of weeds. But it isn't easy—impenetrable shrublands and the rocky terrain make access to some areas extremely difficult. IPA funding has helped the Traditional Owners find a solution, using portable goat trap yards and permanent fencing to aid the ongoing removal of goats and other feral animals. Around 9,000 feral goats have been removed from the property over a 10 year period.

IPA funding is also used for the development and implementation of fire regimes, and installation of vegetation monitoring sites. Native sandalwood is widespread on the property, and a sustainable business venture using this renewable resource is being investigated.

Ninghan forms part of a larger area managed for conservation purposes, with two adjacent properties at Mount Gibson (managed by the Australian Wildlife Conservancy) and the Charles Darwin/White Wells Reserve (managed by the Australian Bush Heritage Fund) boding well for long-term environmental stewardship in the region.

The declaration of Ninghan IPA in October 2006 was made under World Conservation Union (IUCN) Category III – Natural

Monument: Protected Area managed for conservation of specific natural features (700 hectares) and Category IV – Habitat/Species Management Area: Protected Area managed mainly for conservation through management intervention (47,000 hectares).

Ninghan IPA is part of Australia's National Reserve System, a nation-wide network of reserves especially set up to protect examples of Australia's unique landscapes, flora and fauna for current and future generations.
